HOPE FOR SECURITY PACT FOR EUROPE

Demands Of Both Nations Being Whittled Down In Conferences At Rome

By FRANK GERVASTI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, March 9.—Whittled down demands and a series of political "swaps" were expected today as Britain and Italy got down to brass tacks bargaining in their negotiations which may determine the course of European history for decades to come.

Pushing forward with the talks that brought about resignation of Anthony Eden as British foreign secretary, representatives of Premier Mussolini and those of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain advanced each other the demands on which the negotiations will proceed.

Italy's Objectives

The talks are being carried on by the Earl of Perth, British ambassador, and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and their aides.

It was learned Italy's chief objectives are:

- 1—Limitation of the British navy in the Mediterranean to a level of parity with the Italian navy.
- 2—Guarantee Britain will clamp

PA NEW OBSERVES

Four bridges, which were destroyed by the floods of 1937, still remain unrepaid in the state of Pennsylvania, the Detour Bulletin of Pennsylvania Highway Department reveals. There are no doubt chances noted for the period ending March 18.

Pa. News is told that the sugar camps in this area are now in full operation. Lawrence county has very few of these maple groves any more, but Mercer county still has quite a number. Pa. News also notes that some trees here and there around the city have been tapped.

Quite an improvement is being made in the rebuilding of the front of a West Washington street business block, just west of the public square. A fine white front extending the full length of the building has been erected.

Many residents are of the opinion that to be effective the fire whistle alarm should be repeated, when an alarm is sounded. Years ago when the whistle was sounded for fire calls, the alarm was given twice.

City employees have just completed ashing Becker street, which has made a decided improvement, as the street was in bad condition.

Friends of Miss Anna McGuck of Butler avenue, heard her speak on the subject of "World Peace" over the radio yesterday afternoon, from Windsor, Canada. Excerpts from Sir Philip Gibbs article "All quiet on the Western Front" and Harvey Allen's poem "The Blind Man" were used. Miss McGuck is the Dean of women at Highland Park Junior College, in Detroit, Michigan.

John P. Lockhart Taken By Death

Well Known Attorney Dies After Operation Of Two Weeks Ago

NATIVE OF COUNTY; FUNERAL FRIDAY

JOHN P. LOCKHART

At 6:48 a. m. today, in the Jameson Memorial hospital, a prominent member of the Lawrence County Bar Association, John P. Lockhart, aged 60 years, lost a battle with life. The entire community, most of whose citizens knew Mr. Lockhart personally, had been watching his condition ever since he underwent a serious operation two weeks ago, and was hoping for his recovery.

Attorney Lockhart had been actively engaged in the legal profession until his illness of about a month ago. In an effort to save his life he was removed to the Jameson hospital two weeks ago for an operation. Since that time his condition was critical and despite everything the physicians could do, the end came this morning.

Born In East Brook

Mr. Lockhart was born in East Brook on the 24th of May, 1877, son of William and Margaret Parker Lockhart. His parents sent him to Westminster College, when a young man, from where he was graduated in 1899. Law was the career he chose and upon finishing his college work he became the legal apprentice of

Hoover Talks With Goering

Former U. S. President To Confer With Nazi Field Marshal

HOOVER GUEST AT DINNER LAST NIGHT

(International News Service)

BERLIN, March 9.—Former President Herbert Hoover, who yesterday frankly told Chancellor Hitler that the Nazi totalitarian system could never be extended to the United States, and even expressed the opinion it may not last long in Germany, was scheduled today to hold a rendezvous with Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering.

But whether Hoover would prove as outspoken with the portly Goering when they meet at the latter's hunting lodge as he was with Hitler was a point that could not be predicted in advance but which aroused keen speculation, nevertheless.

Charges State Workers Are Being Assessed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 9.—The old political battle-cries—charges of assessment of state workers for the strengthening of the political machine—were heard in Pennsylvania's many-cornered current political campaign today.

Senator Davis Makes Charges.

Sen. James J. Davis charged in a letter to Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of labor and industry, that workers in one division, especially, were being compelled to pay percentages of their salaries, the money to go into the Democratic organization's campaign war-chest.

"I am convinced that if the personnel of the Pennsylvania compensation administration is subject to paying percentages on salaries for party organizational purposes, as I have been informed, it is not a non-partisan administration and not entitled to my support," Davis wrote

First Reports In Y. W. Drive Are Presented

Annual Campaign For Memberships Formally Launched Tuesday Night

ENTHUSIASM IS SHOWN BY TEAMS

Two Report Meetings On March 15-22 To Precede Victory Dinner March 25

Encouraged by the results of the advance canvass, made known at a meeting last night which officially opened the 1938 membership ingathering of the local Young Women's Christian association, the captains and team workers are entering enthusiastically in the search for new members.

There are to be two report luncheons, March 15 and 22, and then, on March 25 the victory dinner.

At the dinner-meeting last night, in the third floor dining room of the Y. W. C. A., captains of several of the church teams reported securing 27 sustaining memberships, for which a total of $165 had been paid.

Sustaining memberships cost five dollars, or as much more as the friend wishes to give; general memberships are one dollar each, and junior memberships (for girls under 18 years) are fifty cents.

Last year 1020 adult members were secured during the ingathering—a record number. The workers hope to better that record this year.

Schuschnigg Arranges Coup

Plebiscite To Be Held On Sunday On Austrian Independence

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

VIENNA, March 9.—Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg today arranged a shrewd political coup by planning, so it was reported in best informed circles, a national plebiscite on the question of Austrian independence.

The poll will be held on short notice—this coming Sunday—if Schuschnigg decides to carry out his tactical maneuver.

Hard-pressed by all political factions, except the Nazis themselves, the chancellor is likely to announce the plebiscite at his speech tonight at Innsbruck. Official circles refused to confirm or deny that this was his plan.

A plebiscite at this time would leave the Nazis at a disadvantage, since they would have no time to consolidate their forces and spread propaganda for their cause.

Schuschnigg was received enthusiastically at Innsbruck with a lavish display of Austrian flags—and with a significant lack of Swastikas.

No Happiness With $100,000

MRS. JUANITA BORG AND SON GEORGE

She has $100,000, but not happiness. So Mrs. Juanita Borg, 31-year-old divorcee who recently surrendered her three-year-old son and in return was provided with a $100,000 trust fund, now waits a job in Chicago—to forget about her money. Mrs. Borg's marriage to George Marshall Borg, son of the wealthy chairman of the Borg-Warner corporation, ended recently in a court battle. The money failed to fill the gap in her life. She tried to enter a convent but no religious order would admit her because of her worldly possessions. The trust had been so drawn it was impossible for her to dispose of the money or transfer it to some other beneficiary.

Following Rate Increase Decision President Calls For Railroad Conference

By HARRY WARD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The railroads got rather small pickings out of their petition for a horizontal increase of 15 per cent in freight rates. Interstate Commerce Commission experts disclosed today. They estimated the increase allowed by the ICC would not amount to more than 8 1/2 per cent.

This estimate was reached on the basis of the commission's decision granting a 10 per cent increase in rates, but exempting a long list of specific commodities. These include bituminous coal, lignite, coke, iron ore, fresh milk and cream. It also specifically forbade the railroads to increase any charge for protective services.

However, experts of the Bureau of Railway Economics, the statistical division of the association of American Railroads, after a preliminary survey of the decision today estimated the net increase in rates would not total more than 4 1/2 per cent.

On this basis the railroads would earn about $150,000,000 in additional revenue. Adding the $70,000,000 increase granted last October gives the roads additional annual revenue of $220,000,000.

Calls Conference

Immediately after the commission announced its decision yesterday, President Roosevelt announced he would assemble a conference of government officials, congressional leaders and representatives of the railroads and railroad workers early next week to consider the railroad problem. Particularly its financial phase.

In its decision the commission held that the railroads, in making any of the increases, must allow for

U. S. Navy Will Use Naval Base Of Great Britain

Agreement Is Made For Use Of New Naval Base At Singapore

DETAILS OF PLAN NOT MADE PUBLIC

Confirmed Officially However That Such An Arrangement Is Concluded

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—An agreement has been perfected between the United States and Great Britain whereby American naval vessels will be permitted to use the facilities of Britain's great naval base at Singapore, it was learned here today.

The arrangement was made in a series of exchanges between the two governments extending over some weeks. Officials here withheld details, but it was confirmed officially that an arrangement had been concluded.

Great Britain's only reservation, it was said, was that there could be no guarantee of continuance of the agreement "in case of war."

Dispatched After Negotiations

Washington, March 9.—The navy today officially disclosed that the three cruisers sent to Singapore in February were dispatched after negotiations between the state department and Great Britain.

In a statement prepared for the house naval affairs committee, at the insistence of members who demanded to know what part Great Britain played in the Singapore visit, the navy said:

"The navy department in preparing an itinerary for the return trip of the cruisers from Sydney (Australia) considered a visit to Singapore."

"In making diplomatic arrangements the British government informed the state department that they would be pleased to have the cruisers there and suggested the visit of February, the date of the formal opening of the new dock yard."

"It was then determined to plan the cruisers' return home via different routes, the Louisville returning by a southerly route via Australia ports, Auckland and Tahiti, and the Trenton, Memphis and Milwaukee by a northerly route via Singapore, Manila and Guam."

Says World Cast Off Piece Of Sun

So Declares Noted Astronomer Of Princeton University In An Opinion

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 8.—This proud world is merely a cast-off piece of the sun, according to the belief of Dr. Henry Norris Russell, Princeton University astronomer.

Dr. Russell, a former president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, expressed the opinion before Indiana University scientists here that the earth was formed when a molten mass of the sun's composition was cast off into space.

The earth, so far as its mineral composition is concerned, is just about what it would be if a mass of the sun were taken out and allowed to cool, Dr. Russell asserted.

Similarities pointed to dealing principally with the findings of the scientist, Victor Goldschmidt, in Norway. Dr. Russell pointed out a "striking agreement in the relative abundance of the elements in the earth and the sun."

"There is great indication," the scientist observed, "that the earth was formed when a molten mass of the sun's composition was cast off into space. As the molten mass cooled, approximately one-eighth of it, in the form of molten iron, became the earth's center."

"This liquid center was surrounded by a crust of rocks, and at the surface there formed a more veneer some 30 miles thick. Water, and finally, the atmosphere completed the five-layer structure. Because the earth did not have sufficient gravity, light gases, of the type existing on the sun, escaped."

Collections of fossils, rocks and artifacts were found at Boulder Dam.

The average girl with a job doesn't use her earnings to buy luxuries for herself, but in a surprising number of cases assumes a part of the support of other members of her family, according to a study made for the Young Women's Christian Association by Miss Elsie D. All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Most of us find it very easy to clear ourselves of all blame and put the responsibility on the other fellow. But a few are different. They load themselves with trouble and delight in suffering. They are proud of their capacity for paying the price of their mistakes. They tear their hair and black their teeth, and cry, "I can't forgive myself!"

But that's vanity, not humility; it's pride, not grief; and it's ridiculous. Once in a while we should be able to stand off and see ourselves as little people who do not entirely control all our actions. When we make a mistake it's unfortunate, but it's not always a sin. When we blow up, it's not a mortal offense; sometimes it's a forgivable accident. And we needn't be claiming that we did it and know just what we were doing all the time. We made a mistake, that's all, and we needn't be so stuck up about it. A sin may be hard work, but anybody can make a mistake.

And so, you CAN forgive yourself and start over. The more you forgive the more you are doing your best. The deeper you sink in the mud, so say you're sorry, then go something decent again.

lowest bidder was not selected, and that the city has no right to take over part of its property for a revenue-making device.

Opening the case Attorney Allan M. Shunkaker and Joseph A. Leva, counsel for Mr. Clarke, presented their position by argument. A number of objections were raised by Guy Schickler, William Coburn and Gilbert Long and Attorney J. Glenn Berry for the city.

Shunkaker argued that control is required to advertise bids three separate times before a contract can be let. To this Mr. Leva replied that this was true of labor or material but that he felt that parking meters did not come within the scope of the act.

Shortly before noon, Joseph Rink was called as a witness and argued that it was true that meters and coin-parking devices are not considered public property. He said that he had been in the case, and that he had been in the case, and that he had been in the case.

When the matter is argued the case started to seem doubtful that it would be concluded today. After the establishment of the facts in the case, argument upon the law will start and this will take hours. The case is before the court in the 60th year, being a case of equity.

Whitney Faces Double Probe

Federal And State Investigations Are To Be Inaugurated Into Failure

(International News Service) NEW YORK, March 9.—Richard Whitney, former president and still a governor of the New York Stock Exchange, today was expected to agree to questioning by the assistant state attorney general as federal and state probes into his stock deals were pushed by authorities.

Public hearings by the state attorney general's office were to open today under the state securities act while the securities exchange commission, federal regulatory body, opened a private investigation into the crash of the top-flight brokerage house. In addition, Whitney soon must answer to the exchange board of governors on charges of violating the code of business ethics.

The investigations were launched after the Whitney firm, one of America's biggest brokerage houses, announced bankruptcy. So far, Whitney has remained inaccessible to subpoena servers and has offered no statement.

His firm was quickly suspended from the stock exchange for insolvency.

Two Seek Part In 'Stage Door'

High School Girls Compete For Tragic Role In Coming
Play

Two students who are "doubling" for parts in the coming senior high school production, "Stage Door," are Dorothy Maher and Kathleen Green. This role is the only tragic one that of the unworldly "Katie" in a play that is emphatically sheer comedy most of the time.

Both girls are outstanding members of the June graduating class. Dorothy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Maher of West Washington street, and Kathleen of M. J. Greene of Chestnut street.

"Stage Door" Green's activities include membership in Senatus Remanus, the Latin honor club. She is the able contralto for that group when they sing Latin songs. As a member of the library squad she is one of the able assistants of the school librarian, Miss Westlake.

"Do" Maher is a very sociable-minded girl. She is assisted by the list of her activities: member of Senatus Remanus, Senatus Remanus, Leaders' Club and the Good Citizen-ship Club, she has been squad leader for civil physical education classes and was class secretary in her junior year.

The final choice for the cast is eagerly awaited by both girls and their many friends.

SET DATE FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

Approximately 200 Lawrence County grocers and employees gathered in the court house, Tuesday evening, to hear Charles H. Von Tegen, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Pennsylvania Grocers Association who delivered an interesting address, regarding the food industry.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 9.—Two Soviet physicians, once among the most eminent in the nation, admitted complicity today in the "medieval murders" of Maxim Gorky, famous Russian writer, and other victims, but blamed their night on Soviet secret police chief Henry G. Yagoda.

Licensing Bill Would Be Chain To Business Men

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Characterizing the Beach-O'Mahoney industrial licensing bill as a "prison bill," Edwin K. Hart of New York protested its passage by congress would put every business man in chains.

Hart represented the New York state economic council before a Senate subcommittee yesterday. He said business was being threatened by government regulation.

"Government regulation," he said, "has increased at an appalling rate for five years. And now, after billions of the people's money have been spent for that purpose, the economic structure has toppled and is falling."

Add a can of corn to a plain omelet and serve it for dinner or lunch, or you can serve it with fish, bacon or ham.

Most Women Don't Need Beauty Parlors

Salon complexes and simply make-up are not a matter for cosmetics. For most self beauties are accomplished by composition.

Composition can be a serious handicap. Mental distress, early fatigue, headaches, sleeplessness, mental depression, loss of appetite, hyper-acidity can all be caused by it.

Keep regular. If more than a day goes by, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This famous laxative is the choice of millions. It does not shock the intestinal system. And in addition, it stimulates the secretion of bile without the discomfort of drastic purgative drugs. Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at your druggist, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Roosevelt Plan Gets Opposition

Governmental Reorganization Plan Likened To Supreme Court Question

WOULD RESULT IN NO SAVINGS

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The congressional fight against the Roosevelt plan of governmental reorganization is assuming the proportions of the president's defeated supreme court reorganization program.

Governmental reorganization generally is recognized as long overdue and "urgently needed"—but not, the pending scheme's opponents say, the kind of reorganization urged by the administrative supporters. These opponents contend that a virtual executive dictatorship would be created if the White House has its way; furthermore, that no economies are contemplated—only a promised, but not guaranteed, increase in efficiency.

Indeed, Senator James F. Byrnes, who sponsors the proposition, admits that no money will be saved, except as enhanced efficiency may be interpreted as an economy.

Opponents answer that despotisms always are represented as efficient, at least temporarily, but they object to a despotism.

ITS POSSIBILITIES

The thing is not literally a proposed despotism.

The plan seeks to empower the president to rearrange, jumble up and reorganize governmental commissions, boards, bureaus and administrations to switch divisions from department to department, and maybe to create a new cabinet department. It would give him considerable authority over their various expenditures. It would concentrate the civil service under a one-man rule, subject to his discretion. It would enslave the office of comptroller general, which has had a deal to do toward limiting executive spending. It would create the office of six "assistant presidents" to guard against a rabies epidemic. A bulldog, discovered to be mad, recently bit six children and several other dogs.

Anyway, it would greatly expand the presidential power.

True, it would not entirely extinguish congressional power.

Congress still could reject the president's decisions. However, it would have to do so by a majority vote. Then the president could veto Congress. Afterward congress would have to override the presidential veto by a two-thirds ballot. Certainly the odds would be in the presidential favor.

THE OPPOSITION

Naturally congressional Republican statesmanship revolts at the possibility of such a situation. Even G. O. P. leaders Charles McNary and Bernard H. Snel on down, respectively in the senate and the house of representatives, the Republicans unitedly are "antis".

But the Democrats? They are nearly if not quite as "anti" as on the issue of supreme court reorganization.

"ANTI" DEMOCRATS

In the early days of governmental reorganization talk I had a letter from Senator Harry P. Byrd of Virginia, severely "painful" me for asserting that retrenchment reorganizations as he then was urging usually work out contrawise.

New Senator Byrd is chief opponent of reorganization, in the form it has taken.

Other anti-reorganization Democrats?

David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, William Bulow of South Dakota, Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

And there are some more; these are conspicuous.

ANTI-ROOSEVELTIANS

The Rooseveltian reorganizers are pretty widely scattered geographically—Massachusetts to Dakota and Montana, from the northwest to Missouri.

And the deep south is to be heard from soon.

The spring primaries will tell the story—not to mention next November's congressional elections.

New "Blood Bank" Preserves Blood For Transfusions

Hospitals Are Now Able To Store Away Life-Giving Fluid For Later Use

International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—A new "blood bank" for storing blood for use in transfusions is being maintained at the Philadelphia General Hospital.

Dr. William G. Turnbull, superintendent, reported the system has been used in more than 400 cases, and that its advantage lay in reduced laboratory tests and time saved in offering transfusions. And it produces fully as satisfactory results as if blood were drawn directly from the donor's veins, according to Dr. Turnbull.

For years need was seen for a "blood storehouse," so that proper types of blood would be ready for emergency cases, the physician explained. When a case arose, donors had to be recruited by telephone, police scouting cars and even radio. It was sometimes a matter of four hours before the patient could be administered the life-saving fluid.

A vastly simpler procedure is necessary now. Blood is drawn from the donor's arm and mixed with 10 per cent solution of sodium citrate to prevent clotting.

Some of the blood is withdrawn into a sterile wash-bottle and several vials are retained for testing one to discover the type of blood, the other to undergo a Wasserman study. Indexed files listing the type of blood and personal characteristics of the donor are affixed to the blood "deposit".

The blood approved for transfusion purposes is kept in a refrigerator at 39 degrees Fahrenheit.

ANSWERS SPORTSMEN'S CHARGE

To Editor:

I beg space in your columns to answer the charge presented by the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Council that mink are dangerous predators.

From the year 1915 to 1921 the commonwealth of Pennsylvania offered a bounty of $1 each for mink and during that period they made a study of mink, including examination of stomach contents and habits in the wild, and the result was that while a bounty was continued on gray fox, wildcats and weasel, it was dropped on mink and they were afforded protection as fur animals of great economic value.

I have studied mink, not for a few months but for several years, and I find they feed mainly on crayfish, clams of the fresh-water variety, frogs, mice, moles, insects and similar food, many varieties considered detrimental, and it is my sincere wish that these valuable fur animals receive the present protection in the future.

If the members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Council will obtain Research Bulletin No. 1 on the Pennsylvania Bounty System, issued by the Board of Game Commissioners, Harrisburg, Pa., they will find a complete report of the bounty system as applied to so-called predators from the beginning of the system in 1915 until 1937, and they will find that bounties have been dropped from many fur animals that were thought to be dangerous predators in the beginning.

Mink bring in a good many dollars to the trappers and rural people in Pennsylvania who desire to take them as a period when the fur is of value rather than in summer when there would be a loss of pelts values which would provide an economic loss to all. And it must not be forgotten that the trappers of Pennsylvania are in a great majority the farmers and land-owners of the commonwealth, and they would quickly resent an all year open season on mink.

Mink are far from plentiful in Lawrence county, in fact they have decreased in the past on years with present open season and the present season may have to be reduced to prevent ultimate extinction.

It is not absolute proof that a mink killed a grouse, rabbit or other game merely because mink tracks are found near it, for disease and weather conditions take a great annual toll of small game and if such game dies near a stream inhabited by mink they may tramp around the carcass or even eat some of it without proving that the animal is responsible for its death.

It has been my experience that what the small game of Pennsylvania lacks is sufficient cover and food. Bad weather conditions, and I hope that no group or individual will "jump at conclusions" in condemning any of our valued fur animals for large killings have for years been examining stomach contents of so-called predatory animals and their reports amply prove that a great many of these are valuable not only for their fur values but to agriculture on account of the fact that they destroy more pests than valuable species.

Every mother knows the value of good telephone service

Every mother knows how many emergencies, great and small, can arise when there's a child in the home. And since so much may depend on a single telephone call, mothers must have telephone service that is fast, accurate and dependable.

TO EVERYONE there comes a time when the swift completion of a telephone call means everything. Since we never know which of your many calls may be emergencies, we try to handle every call as if it were marked "Urgent!"

To make this possible requires a vast amount of complex, delicate equipment. All this equipment must work together—though the parts involved in a single call may be separated by hundreds of miles!

But good telephone service requires more than machinery. It takes an army of men and women—highly-trained people who by long years of experience have become expert in the many technical phases of this complex business. They, too, must work together. And they do.

And so, when you call someone, a mile or a thousand miles away, there's team work—human and mechanical—all the way and your call goes through quickly, clearly, accurately and surely. Call some distant friend tonight after seven, when rates are reduced, and see how true that is!

Paul's 'Portrait' Of Jesus Described

Sixty-Six Ladies At Y. W. C. A. Bible Class Yesterday; Three More Classes

Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine continued the study on the outline, "Early Portraits of Jesus," Tuesday, at the Bible class meeting in the Y. W. C. A., by giving Paul's experience of Jesus.

She spoke of the fine Jewish background which Paul had and of his Roman citizenship and his trade as a tentmaker, all of which stood him in good stead in his later teaching of Jesus.

Mrs. McIlvaine spoke about how much women owed to Paul and to Christianity because it is only in Christian countries where women have an equal place in the church.

She said that Paul suffered many vicissitudes—shipwreck, imprisonment—but the worst suffering which Paul had to bear was disowning in the churches he had established. Other leaders would come in criticizing Paul's message, and although they did not have the power to give as good a message, they left a suspicion of Paul's authority.

Mrs. McIlvaine, in all her teachings, draws a conclusion for the modern church and society.

There were 66 ladies present at the class this morning and 40 last week. Three more classes remain in this lesson series, and will take place on Tuesday mornings at 10 o'clock. All may attend.

Two Offer To Serve As Intermediaries In Levine Kidnaping

Hope To Aid In Contact Plans

New Rochelle Boy Has Been Missing For More Than Week

RANSOM FUND IS HELD IN READINESS

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 9.—Inexplicable delay in effecting contact with the apparent kidnapers of 12-year-old Peter Levine today prompted two prominent residents of this metropolitan suburb to offer themselves as intermediaries.

The ad disappeared thirteen days ago. An account reported ransom demand of $50,000 is said to have been "rained down" to $30,000 which the father, Murray Levine, has sought in vain to convey to the reported abductors.

Would Serve
Rabbi Abraham Novak and Philip Graber, the latter a leading business man, today asked the New York Journal-American to publish their offers to act as go-betweens in the case.

"I am ready to serve at any time as intermediary," said Rabbi Novak. "I promise secrecy and there will be no interference."

Grabel said:
"I stand ready to serve the Levine family at any time as a go-between. I promise complete secrecy."

Both men gave their home addresses and telephone numbers.
Meanwhile, from city and county authorities came cautious suggestions that the police take a hand in search for the boy, although the father has pleaded that the way be left clear for negotiations with the apparent abductors. Federal agents, so far as can be determined, are complying with the father's plea for a "hands off" attitude while he seeks return of his son.

Civic Music To Open Campaign

Seek To Increase Membership Over Last Season And Thus Get Better Attractions

For the third consecutive year, the Civic Music association will stage a membership campaign. The campaign is today being launched with a campaign to start on Monday, March 14. First campaign indications point to a larger membership this season than last, and it is promised that the attractions to be presented here will be the equal and probably superior to those of the previous two seasons.

Two years ago the Civic Music association opened its course in New Castle and presented such outstanding attractions as Beveridge Webster, pianist, and the Vienna Boys Chorus. In 1931-32 the attractions included Ezio Pinza, basso-soprano; Labozhinski and Nemenoff, duo-pianists, and Rubini, the violinist.

This year it is hoped that with an increased membership it will be possible to bring the very best in music to New Castle.

The officers of the association are: President, Dr. E. F. Henderson; Joe P. Replegle, secretary, and Charles H. Johnson, Jr., treasurer.

Walter C. Gumbel Given Promotion

Former Princeton Boy
Named State Extension
Soil Conserva-
tionist

IS HONORED IN WEST VIRGINIA

Walter C. Gumbel, former Princeton man, who has been named County Agricultural agent in Hancock county, West Virginia, for the past eight years, has been named Extension Soil Conservationist for the Agricultural Extension Service of West Virginia University and the Soil Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, which are cooperating in his employment, on March 1. His headquarters have been established in Morgantown with the state office of the Soil Conservation Service.

Mr. Gumbel enters upon his new work well qualified to develop an outstanding program of economic land use for West Virginia, say extension service officials who have supervised his work in Hancock county where he had put into operation an effective demonstration of cooperative effort on the part of farm owners and industrial leaders in conserving the soil resources of that county and using them for the economic, social and cultural interests of all the people of the county.

Work Is Outstanding
Five years ago farm and industrial leaders of Hancock county under Mr. Gumbel's leadership set up a plan for land use in the county which provided for the development of three recreational areas, the use of submarginal areas for farm forestry and wildlife preserves, and the use of land suitable for farming purposes for orcharding, general crops, small fruits and vegetables, and poultry. Farmers of the county are actively cooperating in the Agricultural and Soil Conservation programs promoted by the United States Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the State Agricultural Extension Service.

A Forest-Forestry project was developed through which more than 10,000 trees have been planted and about 18,000 more will be planted this spring. One of the recreational areas developed in the county has, under Mr. Gumbel's leadership, become Tomlinson's Run State Park. It contains 1,300 acres and upwards of $60,000 has been spent in its development into what is now the outstanding recreational nature attraction in the Tri-State area in which Hancock County forms an integral part.

Mr. Gumbel was born and reared on a farm at Princeton, Pennsylvania, and received his technical training in agriculture at Penn State College where he majored in Agricultural Economics. He has been active in the Grange which is well organized in the county. It may thus be said that the influence of the Upper Ohio Valley Horticultural Society was organized. He graduated from New Castle high school in the class of 1924.

Dealers Here Observing Used Car Sales Week

Intensive Drive Being Made
To Pave Way For Future
Business In Nation

LOCAL DEALERS
JOIN IN EFFORT

Local car dealers, joining with the 48,000 others throughout the nation are observing National Used Car Sales Week here this week, and are speeding up the sale of used cars in order to rid their workrooms of models now on hand in order to provide for new business.

The aim of National Used Car Week is to provide intensive bargains for those whose cars are now about worn out and should be junked, because of their condition, but which are still being driven by their owners.

Attractive terms are being offered to the buying public, and it is a bargain work all around. The effort is expected to speed up the automobile industry and the way along the line resulting in auto parts manufacturers, the repairers and enjoying a better business in the immediate future.

So far the effort here has met with success due to the determined effort being put forth by the sales forces of the local dealers, and they are hopeful of closing the week with an enviable record.
